

DRINKING GAME

It's Euro 2008 and with none of the home nations to support, why not enjoy the matches in the company of our drinking game? If any of the predictions come to pass, simply do the forfeit and within minutes, you'll be screaming at the TV as if your team's actually playing. . So cut them out, stand them up and let the games begin.

-
- 1) one finger every time one of the following words is said: efficient, industrious, effective, disciplined, typically organised, never, write, off, Germans.
 - 2) two fingers everytime it looks like Joachim Low and all his coaches got a cheap deal on blue shirts.

-
- 1) one finger per button dangerously undone on Fatih Terim's shirt.
 - 2) four fingers if he's spotted with a big gold medallion doing the moves to Stayin Alive at any point during the match.
 - 3) eight fingers if he does the falsetto vocals.

Germany v Turkey - Wed. 7.45pm BBC1 & RTE2

GENERAL FORFEITS

- 1) two fingers every time the commentator mentions that there are loads of Turks living in Germany.
- 2) four fingers if the commentator goes on to point out there are very few Germans living in Turkey.
- 3) eight fingers if that's followed with something like "Thanks to the Allies"